

This is a digital copy of a book that was preserved for generations on library shelves before it was carefully scanned by Google as part of a project to make the world's books discoverable online.

It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book's long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

Usage guidelines

Google is proud to partner with libraries to digitize public domain materials and make them widely accessible. Public domain books belong to the public and we are merely their custodians. Nevertheless, this work is expensive, so in order to keep providing this resource, we have taken steps to prevent abuse by commercial parties, including placing technical restrictions on automated querying.

We also ask that you:

- + Make non-commercial use of the files We designed Google Book Search for use by individuals, and we request that you use these files for personal, non-commercial purposes.
- + Refrain from automated querying Do not send automated queries of any sort to Google's system: If you are conducting research on machine translation, optical character recognition or other areas where access to a large amount of text is helpful, please contact us. We encourage the use of public domain materials for these purposes and may be able to help.
- + Maintain attribution The Google "watermark" you see on each file is essential for informing people about this project and helping them find additional materials through Google Book Search. Please do not remove it.
- + Keep it legal Whatever your use, remember that you are responsible for ensuring that what you are doing is legal. Do not assume that just because we believe a book is in the public domain for users in the United States, that the work is also in the public domain for users in other countries. Whether a book is still in copyright varies from country to country, and we can't offer guidance on whether any specific use of any specific book is allowed. Please do not assume that a book's appearance in Google Book Search means it can be used in any manner anywhere in the world. Copyright infringement liability can be quite severe.

About Google Book Search

Google's mission is to organize the world's information and to make it universally accessible and useful. Google Book Search helps readers discover the world's books while helping authors and publishers reach new audiences. Prefatory Note

This tentative system of subject headings for the literature of military science was compiled directly for use in editing the International Military Digest. There were available for our use in English only the admirable but brief relative index to the expansion of the military sections of the Dewey Decimal Classification prepared by Dr. Holden, for many years librarian of the U. S. Military Academy at West Point, and the in many ways excellent but still comparatively undetailed classification prepared by the Army War College at Washington.

To both these pamphlet classifications the writer is indebted for innumerable suggestions of arrangement and nomenclature.

It became evident, however, as soon as editorial work on the International Military Digest started, early in 1915, that the European War had made so many radical innovations in military science that a revised scheme of subject headings was imperative. Indeed the very vocabulary of warfare had changed; such significant terms as camouflage, barrage, flammenwerfer—to say nothing of hangar, flechette, avion, drift-indicator and the rest of the new vocabulary of aviation—having been five years before utterly unknown.

It became equally evident very shortly, when attempt was made by the Military Digest to digest the hundreds of articles on as many different detailed military subjects that poured in upon it from periodicals in a dozen different languages that, if a real bibliographical clue to this mass of material were to be afforded, the classification used in our subject headings must be a very close one, far more detailed indeed than any then available to us; and that cross references must err toward copiousness rather than paucity.

To meet this very practical and immediate need this system of subject headings was started, and has grown, not so much by deliberate formulation as by constant accretion and revision in actual daily use during the years since. During this period it was available in proof sheet form to the various members of the editorial staff and it has been printed primarily for their more convenient use; if it finds also some usefulness beyond our own staff its compiler will be amply repaid for the additional work and expense involved.

As a system of subject headings it is avowedly incomplete and tentative, altho the main headings have "proved out" fairly well in their six years use. As the system has grown in proof form, changes in typographical style have been made. No attempt has been made here to harmonize these mechanical divergencies by resetting. So, too, no attempt has been made to catalog by name long lists of specific diseases, of canals, of military decorations, of military schools, etc., etc. The few samples of each listed in each case are some of those which have happened to crop up during the last six years in our actual work of digesting. A sufficient number are given to show the method of heading: further listings in such cases seemed unnecessary.

The professional bibliographer should remember too that this system was printed as a guide to a frequently changing body of officer-editors, not all of them familiar with subject-heading technique. It seemed wise therefore to be clear in the form used rather than unduly concise.

To the editors of the International Military Digest, Col. C. DeW. Willcox, U.S.A., and Lt.-Col. S. R. Stuart, U.S.A., the writer has been indebted for innumerable suggestions and decisions upon moot points of military nomenclature and usage. The compiler of a system of subject headings has at best a rather thankless task: and in so complex a subject as modern military science, co-operation is all the more welcome, and the more necessitated.
